Power of One Rupee (Students to Student Program)

An educated person has the power to change his or her own life and to shape the future in a positive rather than negative way.

The 2009 batch of students introduced the “Power of the Rupee” idea with the aforementioned consideration in mind. They discovered that the students in their batch were having trouble accruing the necessary fees since they might not be able to pay them. In this regard, the profile of the college's students reveals that they come from low-income families.

Due to budgetary limitations, many female students are also forced to stop their education. By considering the above-mentioned issue and also not keeping away from education because of the financial barrier the students are encouraged through the above practice.

Objectives of the Practice:

- To provide financial aid to deserving students and support their pursuit of graduation.
- Without regard to caste, creed, or gender, to assist students who are less well off financially.
- To instill in the students the idea of helping others.
- To create a sense of social responsibility among the students

The Practice

A scholarship committee is established at the college level, made up of management members, senior teachers, and student representatives. Students are encouraged to submit request letters on plain paper. To confirm the information provided in the applications, students are enquired. The committee then reviews the applications and the observations from the interviews. Following thorough document verification, the committee recommends candidates who qualify for the Power of Rupee Scholarship and submits it for management approval. By signing the cheque that will be given to the student, management approves the sanction.

Mid-Day Meals Scheme

A fed stomach stimulates mental activity.

Some of the students traveling from long distances used to skip their breakfast as they had to leave early morning. Even many of the students also do part-time jobs after college hours which also helps them. Also, certain students, particularly girls, used to faint in classes due to insufficient nutrition. To plug this problem, the management of the college initiated the mid-day meal scheme for the benefit of such students. The management in collaboration with Adamyia Chethana and Essae Foundation launched the Mid-day meals scheme in the college. The practice is successful in our system for more than a decade now.

Objectives of the Practice:

- To avoid classroom hunger
- Improve students' attendance and enhance academic performance.
- To address malnutrition

The Physical Education Director monitors the distribution and attenders are posted to serve the food and monitor the distribution of food and maintain hygiene in the food serving area. Food is delivered by the Adamyia Chaitanya every working day at about 10 am. The attendees will collect the food and store it in the mid-day meals storage area. Food is usually distributed on all days between 12.15 noon to 1:00 pm. The surplus food is distributed amongst the housekeeping servants who help in washing the utensils after use and attenders who serve the food. An average of about 300 students benefitted from the scheme every day from 2013 till date.
